

FARM RIDDLES

Why do Bisaya pigs dig up the ground around them? This sow is again pregnant; piglet lechons on Christmas? The boar (not shown) has an even bigger pigsty.

Why does this goat have its newly born kid settle in a "palangana"? This is the first offspring not sired by the late Emil, of Boer pedigree. The new ram is Bisaya.

The four calves born on the farm, ranging in age from 5 months 20 days to 1 month 17 days. The brown one is not conceived by A.I.

So why does this naturally conceived one look the most handsome? All are female.

Yet, a few seconds earlier, one tried to mount another. Are they gay?

This almost turkey-sized foreign breed Caver rooster pecked to death 4 chicks, hence its isolation. Was it jealous? It will be baked tomorrow, belated party for me.

The cow shed being built. One end will be a milking station. Before cow sheds, how did cattle manage it in the open fields, especially in the rain?

More veggie plots. A lowly "balatong" or mongo field.

That's the mongo pods drying. No question here, they are delicious.
