

NERI FAMILY TREE
originally of Mindanao, Philippines
Version 1 - 22 Nov 2015

INTRODUCTION:

This is one of the standard print-outs of the Family Tree Maker Genealogical Software.

This Intro and the Appendix are edited in.

This print-out is generated from data the undersigned encoded into the Family Tree Maker software (FTW), as taken from the a large handwritten chart sent over by Mercy Rivera-Abad, with a note that the Neri forebears were descendants of Muslim royalty. The chart was a copy of a copy, and was not that legible in certain areas. It was arranged in a number of columns for each generation, starting off with a note that Samporna family were baptized as Christians in 1779, and were given the name “Neri”. There were four original Neris, two of whom were listed as brothers. All the succeeding generations had only first names (but some with full names of spouses in parenthesis), and had lines drawn to connect them to their respective parents on the previous column.

I asked Mercy who made the chart and if some of her kin could clarify some smudged names, and she answered that in due time, she may have some answers, but in the meantime she hoped that I perhaps might stumble on some more data on the internet.

And I did. I found a blog dated 2005 written by her kin Amadeo Velez Neri, who traced their family to Rajah Samporno. And he had made the chart.

His blog with the chart is reproduced on the last 3 pages.

On that basis, I conjectured that the first four Neri names where all children of the Rajah, with the two brothers having the same unknown mother, arbitrarily named Wife1, and the other two Neris each from Wife 2 and Wife 3.

As is my practice, I assigned interpolated or “guestimated” birth years to each person, based on logical assumptions of marriage age, child-bearing years and sibling spacing. When guestimated, the birth year is prefixed by “about”. Where a definite birth year is known, I make adjustments to the siblings, parents and children to refine the estimates.

Still, the dates could be significantly off, as there may be missing siblings, or the birth order is not correct, or the original chart data is misread.

The format of this print-out is as follows:

1. Arabic numeral prefix to each name is a unique number for each individual.
2. Names with a # prefix means that the name will appear again in later generations, in reference to their children.

3. Roman numeral prefix is the order of birth for siblings.
4. Small superscripted numbers indicate generational level of individuals.
5. Parenthesized names after emboldened name are forebears or bloodline of individual.
6. Where full names are unknown, XXX or other descriptive identities are used.
7. Where original name on chart is smudged, ??? is interspersed.

We enjoin the clan members to make corrections/updates as may deem fit, such as filling in the correct names, DOBs, additional children and/or siblings, preferred deletions, etc. If sent back to <ferngil@aol.com>, we will update the database and reissue a new printout. Additionally, we can also printout other reports such as Ancestry Trees, Kinship Reports, etc.

Last portion is the index which lists all the members alphabetically, and their corresponding reference number.

Newer editions of this family tree, among others, may be are posted periodically (as evidenced by the version numbers) on the internet on the link below.

The family tree also is merged into the Genealogical Project, a large database now at about 34,000 names, viewable on the internet. It is presented in the interactive mode, with various view formats. This project is a public service of the Tanjay Association and is aimed at linking as many of the Philippine clans as possible. To see the rationale, and read the Introduction, click on HOME.

Genealogy: The Neri Family of Mindanao

*****UPDATES AND COMMENTS BELOW*****

And the story (or was it legend?) thus begun . . . . .

Sometime in 1521, there lived Samporna, chief of Cipit, and otherwise known as a rajah of Lanao. In Sanskrit, the word, sampurna, means perfect.

And then like the silent marches of unrecorded history nothing newsworthy was heard of this tribal family until 1779, when the usurping march of the Spaniards under the banner of the Christian cross came to the hapless islands. Thus, with reverential haste and in the name of king and God, a Rev. Pedro de San Barbara gathered together the Samporna family and officiated at its mass christening adopting for them the family name of Neri.

And why an Italian name from a Spanish friar? One can only surmise and note that a St. Philip Neri, an Italian cleric and a popular European saint, must have been in the mind of the named friar.

While the Spaniards kept meticulous records of their exploits overseas, digging that part of the past is still a daunting task, given the crudeness and impermanency of record-keeping methods used by the native islanders.

And searching for the missing links for this family was no exception, for recorded and verifiable history picks it up starting in the very early 1800s. Missing out on at least 25 years, which during those times were truly lifetimes given the shorter lifespans of people then. One could say that people typically then lived for under 50 years, and this family is particularly noted for having forefathers/progenitors who lived short lives when compared to present-day standards.

Then in the 1800s, a profusion of families carrying the name Neri littered local history's screen. Juan Neri who lived from 1807 to 1857 and was married to Anastacia Chaves. A Leon Neri with nothing much known about other members of his family. A Lino Neri who was gobnadorcillo from 1832-1833. Another was a Salvador Neri, married to a Coronado and was also a gobnadorcillo from 1831-1832.

Only one common thread binds all those names mentioned above, and it is that they all lived at about the same time. But as to the bigger question of whether they were related either as siblings or as cousins, everything is still in a haze. One needs to remember that in times past and is still the practice with our Moslem brethren, multiple wives were common especially with tribal leaders and families with both affluence and influence.

Thus, we could surmise that when reference is made to Samporna family, it was a family composed of one male and several wives, not necessarily related to each other.

Thus, the relations of those named families above could be construed in this manner, unless new data can prove or disprove this hypothesis. Can we ever hope to resolve this confusion and dilemma?

This is particularly crucial because beyond those dates, the history of the families of the Neri is quite accurate and easily traceable. Thus, beyond the middle 1800s, one can almost be sure that data are easily available to trace one's lineage all the way to the present time.

And if any interested party wants to try and know, we can take that journey together, tracing through data I already possess and other data that may be in the hands of other relatives.

UPDATE: February 21, 2008

Upon suggestion of Mon Neri, I tried ways to replicate the genealogy graph or table that I had hand-written in ways that could be sent and received by any interested party. Browsing through the installed software for my Canon PowerShot cameras, I learned that using the photograph attached below, I could actually read through all the names without difficulty and they all came out legibly. I simply opened the ZoomBrowser on my PC and previewed the photograph. That screen allows one to view the picture in its actual size, which of course would not fit in one's monitor screen. But there is a small navigator inset screen that allows one to navigate through the entire graph and thus enables one to trace lineage with the names.

Good luck to those interested.
